2 TOTS BURNED TO DEATH

BIRDSEYE sketch prepared by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, which shows the route to be followed by the Southern Pacific railroad tracks from the main line to the inner harbor. The new line will be about 8000 feet in length. The work is to be finished by Sept. 1.

CAR SPEEDS ON DURING TRAGEDY

NAPA, July 2.—Two children, Homer Giddings, 4 and his brother, Louis Giddings, 3, were burned to death here today when the truck in which they were riding caught fire.

With Mr. and Mrs. Homer Giddings riding in the front cab of the truck, and the children playing in the truck body, the party left here enroute to the Giddings' ranch a few miles from St. Helena.

Hubert Bachtell, a rural mail carrier, suddenly noticed a truck spouting flames a short distance ahead of him. He gave chase and 15 minutes later he reached the truck, shouting to the driver and his wife that the machine was afire.

Becoming excited, Mr. and Mrs. Giddings leaped from the speeding truck to the highway. A few seconds later the car struck a rock and turned over, pinning the children beneath the burning wreckage.

In spite of the heroic efforts of the parent and Bachtell, nothing could be done to save the two tots. Their bodies, charred beyond recognition, were recovered from the wreckage late to night.

Authorities expressed belief to night that the car caught fire in some manner from the muffler. The father is a senior student at the Pacific Union College at St. Helena.

Someone got J. T. Davis' goat and he wants it returned, according to reports made to the police last night.

Davis told police that something yesterday afternoon someone entered, stole, or in other words, took his pet nanny goat away from his back yard at 535 Second street.

As a result the best goat detectives in the police department are on the trail. An arrest can be expected at any time.

REYNOLDS ON TRIP
Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Reynolds and family of 48 Twenty-eighth street, left recently for Magaldi, on the Feather river, where they will spend a three weeks vacation.

Western and P. G. & E. to show their profit was not excessive, were failures.

It is possible that the commission will investigate the entire financial structure of the two companies. Commissioner Clyde Seavey will conduct a preliminary hearing in the P. G. & E. case on Aug. 27 and will hear the Great Western company on Aug. 29.

No change will be asked in the gas departments, although the gas rates of the P. G. & E. have been declared excessive.

Reach For Hat Ends In Death
BAKERSFIELD, July 2.—UP—When J. M. Denham, 54, farmer, reached for his hat as a gust of wind whisked it from his hand here today he fell from a truck and was crushed to death under the wheels.

Half Million Loss As Entire Town Periled

MILL VALLEY, July 2.—(UP)—After destroying between 75 and 100 homes, according to estimates of officials of the fire department, one of the worst fires in the history of San Francisco bay region was controlled here shortly before midnight.

A "very conservative" estimate of the loss would be $500,000, Frank Hemstead, city tax collector, told the United Press.

For five hours the flames threatened to wipe out the entire town. The blaze was less than half a mile from the business district when it was finally brought under control.

MILL VALLEY, July 2.—(UP)—Approximately 200 persons were homeless and nearly all women and children of the town's 6000 inhabitants were fleeing with all their belongings they could carry as fire began to burn through the city limits of Mill Valley tonight.

Estimates that 50 to 60 houses had been destroyed at nine p. m. and damage amounting to several million dollars had been caused were given wide circulation.

One of the refugees, an old time resident of the section, said he believed one fifth of the area of the town had been destroyed, but it was in the inner suburb where buildings were far apart.

WIND AIDS FIGHTERS
There was a slight change in the wind at nine o'clock and fire fighters declared they thought they could save the business section if the gale continued to help them.

Mill Valley is on the side of Mt. Tamalpais, a scenic beauty spot of California and a playground for residents of San Francisco.

Many were overcome by smoke. They slumped down to the ground while others threw water in their faces until they were revived. There was a constant fall of sparks on the city and streams of water were being poured on every roof. The domestic water supply was cut off.

S. F. SENDS AID
Nine pieces of apparatus from the San Francisco Fire department were rushed here by ferry boat across the San Francisco bay.

A detachment of 130 soldiers from the Presidio was sent on the same boat and went at once to positions on the fire line. The flames had swept half way down Summit hill, which is inside the city limits.

HIGHWAYS JAMMED
Reports that three persons had been taken to emergency hospitals could not be verified, the task of obtaining accurate information being handicapped by the blinding smoke and the heat. In addition thousands of persons from other cities of the bay region attracted by the huge pillar of fire and smoke, jammed highways and forced disruption of ferry schedules.

STARTS ON MOUNTAIN
The fire started on the southern side of Mt. Tamalpais this afternoon while the temperature was above 90. Speedily it spread through the dry brush and down a canyon. The wind was blowing about 25 miles an hour toward this town until after dark, when the slight change was noticed and fire fighters became optimistic they would save the business district.

By sundown between 30 and 40 houses had been destroyed, fire department officials said. Several hours later the number had been raised to about 60.

ALL MEN DRAFTED
Every man residing in the town was ordered on duty fighting the fire while women and children were put into commandeered automobiles or started to walk to Sausalito, south of here.

The palatial $275,000 residence of Ralston White in the canyon above here was endangered but was still standing, according to latest reports.

MISS DREYSPRING LEAVES
Miss Freda Dreyspring, of 2123 Bissell avenue, left recently for Los Angeles via airplane. She flew from the Oakland airport. She will remain a week in the south and will then motor back with friends.

Miss Margaret Acquardo of 422 Contra Costa avenue, will leave today for Los Angeles, where she will visit with friends and relatives for a month or more.

MRS. MAXWELL HOME
Mrs. J. E. Maxwell has returned to her home at 2015 Roosevelt avenue from San Francisco hospital, where she recently underwent an operation.

PERILED S. O. SHIP LANDS

SAN PEDRO, July 2.—(UP)—The Standard Oil tanker District of Columbia and the freighter Pacific Oak, victims of a collision in a heavy fog off Point Conception reached port here late today.

The port quarters of the Pacific Oak were stove in and there was a bad hole in the port bow of the District of Columbia.

Officials said it was impossible to estimate monetary damage until the ships were inspected.

The tanker District of Columbia was en route to Richmond with a cargo of oil. The Pacific Oak is owned by the Dimon Ship company of New York and was bound for New York from Seattle.

LINDY, BRIDE ON WAY WEST

WICHITA, Kans., July 2.—(UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh lifted his bride into the front seat of his biplane here at 5:55 p. m. and took off for Waynoka, Okla., where he will spend the night.

The colonel will inspect facilities at the Waynoka airport where transcontinental Air Transport air-rail passengers will be transferred to train when the transcontinental service of which Lindbergh is an official is inaugurated. The Lindberghs arrived here late Monday from Kansas City.

Captain Tried For Negligence In Ship Wreck

PORTLAND, Ore., July 2.—UP—Captain Louis Johnson was tried here today by two United States steamerboat inspectors on charges of negligence in taking the steamer Laurel out of the Columbia river during unsafe weather.

Captain Johnson pleaded not guilty and inspectors Wynne and Edhofer after listening to his pleadings, announced their verdict would be handed down Wednesday.

The Laurel was wrecked on Peacock Spit out from North Head, Wash., June 16 during a gale. One man was lost and 32 rafters were taken off by the Coast Guard.

Captain Johnson refused to leave the craft, although it was split amidships, but finally was taken off three days after the wreck.

INNER HARBOR LINE WILL BE READY SEPT. 1

Southern Pacific rails from the main line to the inner harbor will be in place by Sept. 1, it was announced by the railroad through the Richmond Chamber of Commerce.

Company officials said that the grading, now under way, will be finished in 40 days and that the entire new line connecting the inner harbor with the outside world will be ready within 60 days.

Completion of the rail line will mean that the inner harbor will become a place where rail, water and paved streets meet, making the new Parr-Richmond terminal facility able to receive and dispatch cargo to and from all parts of the world.

The finishing of the track work will be in line with plans for the formal opening of the new terminal, where a celebration is to be held early in September dedicating it to actual use.

The new cut off from the main line leaves from a point north of Stege and proceeds in a westerly direction over level ground to the inner harbor where it taps the big industrial area being developed there.

The only engineering difficulties involved will be the filling of a short distance of marsh land. The new line will be approximately 8000 feet in length.

It was also announced by the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe railroads that they will comply with recent suggestions of the traffic committee of the Richmond chamber of commerce regarding extension of switching zones in the Richmond district.

Mrs. Griffith Funeral Held

Funeral services were conducted from the Bert Curry chapel yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Anna Griffith, widow of the late Charles Griffith who passed away at Rodeo last week. Interment was in Sunset View cemetery.

Deceased was a native of Pinole and was 60 years of age. She leaves several sons and daughters.

T. Goodwin Dies From Crash Hurts

Thomas B. Goodwin, 38, of Lincoln avenue and Liberty street, El Cerrito, died yesterday in the Providence hospital, Oakland, of injuries sustained when his automobile collided with a street car on San Pablo avenue and Alston way last Friday.

Following the accident, Goodwin was removed to the Berkeley General hospital and later to the Oakland hospital. He received a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Speeder Day Decided Flop In Court Here

Speeder's day in the court of Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom yesterday was decidedly NOT a success, Judge Alstrom reported.

Since Judge Alstrom took over the reins at the local court, Tuesday has always been speeder's day. Each Tuesday state traffic officers hall into court motorists charged with violation of state and municipal traffic laws.

But yesterday not one speeder—not even a motorist charged with cutting in—appeared.

And the traffic policemen were conspicuous by their absence.

Another Air Endurance Hop Starts In South

CULVER CITY, July 2.—UP—In an effort to capture the world's endurance airplane record, Loren Mendell and Pete Reinhart were flying in a big Burt Steedman over southern California tonight.

At 5:29:30 p. m. (PST) exactly 10 hours after the takeoff, the record-seeking plane had its first refueling. Enough fuel and supplies were placed aboard to last until approximately noon Wednesday.

Mendell and Reinhart started their flight about six hours after Leo Nomis and Maurice Morrison were slightly injured when they had made a "dead stick" landing at the dark Metropolitan airport when the motor of their Cessna monoplane suddenly stopped.

Nomis and Morrison had completed 42 hours in the air and announced they would repair their plane for another attempt in two weeks.

HITCHCOCK'S RETURN

Mrs. Beatrice Hitchcock and daughter, Lurline, have just returned from their journey which included Dallas, Texas, where they visited Mrs. Hitchcock's father and sister. The flooded area was encountered at Wharton, but they were soon out of it, and met no further trouble.

ARMY BASE TO ALAMEDA

The United States army airbase is to be located at Alameda while the Naval bombing base for defense of the San Francisco bay region will be located at Santa Venetia, north of San Rafael.

Location of the two bases in this district is said by army and naval officials to be the most important and essential additions to the Pacific Coast defenses of the United States established in many years.

Word of the decision of the War Department was received here yesterday by officers of the Ninth Corps area.

Site Donated
The Santa Venetia bombing base will be located on a tract of 610 acres of land formerly owned by the California Packing corporation. (Continued on Page 8)

PACIFIC GAS GETS PERMIT FOR GAS LINE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—The state railroad commission today granted the Pacific Gas and Electric company permission to construct a $12,000,000 pipeline from the Kettleman Hills and Bakersfield natural gas fields into San Francisco.

Simultaneously the company announced plans for a $25,000,000 network of natural gas pipelines to cover Northern California as far north as Sacramento.

The company now has pending before the commission an application for extension of its original plans to run its pipelines up the San Joaquin valley to Richmond, with a branch near Patterson to serve Modesto, Oakland, Stockton, Lodi, Sacramento, Woodland, Davis and Rio Vista.

Another branch is planned across the Carquinez straits to provide natural gas for Vallejo, Napa, San Rafael, Sausalito and the Santa Rosa district.

With the announcement by the company, Assistant City Attorney Dion Holmes announced that the city of San Francisco can now go before the state railroad commission and press that body for a new rate hearing. It was agreed that if the city would not oppose the granting of the pipeline permit, Holmes said, the commission would take up this rate investigation at once.

PACIFIC GAS, ELECTRIC CO. RATES DECLARED TOO HIGH

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—The state railroad commission today tentatively decided that electric rates charged by the Pacific Gas and Electric company and the Great Western Power company are too high.

That the showings of the profits made by the two companies on June 4 was "not satisfactory" and that a full investigation of the rates charged by the two utilities will be commenced next month were statements contained in a formal statement issued by the commission.

The two companies, as well as several other light companies, were cited to appear before the commission two months ago to show cause why their rates ought not be reduced.

Attempts to show that excessive profits were not being made were made by attorneys of the two companies before the railroad commission two weeks ago.

According to the commission, the attempts made by the Great

Evenings Off for the Married

SUMMER widowers, attention! (Like wife, of course, summer widows, to say nothing of the girls who concede summer bachelors.) It has been ruled and set forth, from the bench of the Supreme Court of New York, that a husband has a right to his own friends, even his own female friends, even friends not particularly congenial to his wife.

Said Justice Peter Schmuck, in a recent decision:

"Entertaining another than one's wife, even to the extent of escorting her to the theatre, is in itself no reason to cause public comment or indignation, much less warrant disturbance of the marriage, for a married man is no criminal and marriage is not supposed to deprive him of his individuality, to foreclose his right to choose his associates, or restrict his social activities to those acceptable to his wife."

Here's one woman who says: "Three cheers for the Judge! All married persons, we believe, ought to have evenings off if they want them."

IT ALWAYS has seemed to us absurd and unfair that either a husband or a wife should elect to censor the other's friends or public social contacts. If a wife cannot trust her husband to take another woman to the theatre, why did she marry him in the first place? Either she is hopelessly doubtful of her own attractiveness—or she thinks him a Don Juan. (Few American husbands even admit the time to say nothing of emulating it.)

"But," mutters some matron, "I should I say home all alone while my husband is taking another woman to a show?" Why should you? Why do you let an old friend who'd like to take you out? You are decidedly unlike most American women if your husband is the only man of your acquaintance. Why must the married perpetually go about by two and two, as the animals went into the ark? Why can't they occasionally take an evening off from each other? If the wife is a child with whom one of the two should stay, let them take their evenings out in turn!

THERE are at least two good reasons for such re-luffing. In the first place, it seems to be a law that a wife doesn't "take to" her husband's friends, and that hers bore him stiff.

"What you can SEE in that shallow little widow!" she sniffs.

"How can you STAND that tame cat!" he retorts.

If this is the state of affairs—and nine times out of ten, it is—why should a man ask his wife to entertain a woman utterly uncongenial to her, or why should she urge him to be hospitable to a man with whom he has nothing in common? Surely it's more sensible and peaceful to agree to disagree, and each entertain his or her special friends (of either sex) without dragging in an unwillingly polite partner as accessory.

The second reason for the occasional social association of husband and wife with outsiders is that, in a happy marriage, the brief separation emphasizes the pleasure of reunion. When a woman in love with her husband has lunch with Dick, she goes home with such a "Thank-God-I'm-not-married-to-Dick" feeling! When a man in love with his wife takes Marie to the theatre, he leaves her with the grateful reflection that the woman he married doesn't hate to equal every time somebody on the stage says "Damn!"

Association between two happily married persons is so rich in shared memories, perceptions, jokes, that social contact with any mere friend, while having the momentary charm of change, is, by contrast, thin and swiftly satisfying. Only when forbidden does it exercise a dangerous allure. We truly believe that the normal reaction for a husband or wife who is, as a matter of course, permitted complete social freedom, is to come rushing back to the tolerant partner with the feeling, if not the open assertion, "Nobody is as much fun as you!"

A Tip to Homemakers

By all means reduce your home work during the summer. Whether in the city home or the bungalow, use the runners and tablecloths in that chemically treated fabric that needs merely to be wiped with a moistened cloth. This season they come in colors and they are hemstitched. Those in small damask patterns are especially attractive, and both the green and pale yellow are much admired.

MUSINGS ON MENUS

BY NANCY DORRIS

Bright red tomatoes, green beans, lettuce and cottage cheese combine in a summer salad both inviting and healthful.

The salad requires only whole wheat bread and butter, some fruit and a beverage to make a perfect luncheon for June.

"Cottage cheese is obtainable by the pound—two cups make a pound. The chilled beans marinated for half an hour in French dressing obviate the need for serving a dressing with the salad."

The salad requires the following utensils in its preparation and serving: two saucepans, measuring cup, teaspoon, large spoon, sharp knife, cutting board, bowl for cheese, six chilled salad plates.

In the morning wash and prepare the string beans for cooking. Place in a saucepan with two cups of boiling water and one-half teaspoon salt and bring to a smart boil. Cover and reduce heat, boiling gently until tender, from thirty to forty minutes, according to the size and quality of the beans. Chill after draining. The liquid may be utilized in soup.

Wash the lettuce in lukewarm water, shake dry and pack carefully in bag; store in refrigerator until serving time. Heat some water in the saucepan, and plunge the ripe tomatoes in; in a few seconds drain and remove the skins with the knife. Chill well.

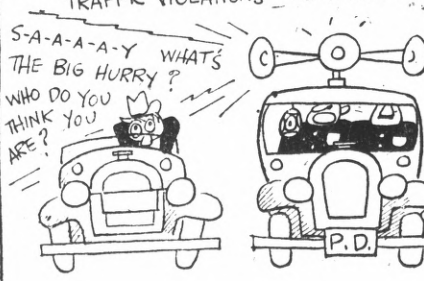

At luncheon time mix the cheese with salt, pepper and some cream in the bowl and taste. The cheese should please the palate.

Arrange crisp lettuce leaves on the chilled salad plates and centre with a mound of cheese. Encircle with the chilled or marinated beans and the tomatoes cut into neat quarters. Sprinkle the minced onion over the cheese or the beans and serve with French or boiled salad dressing.

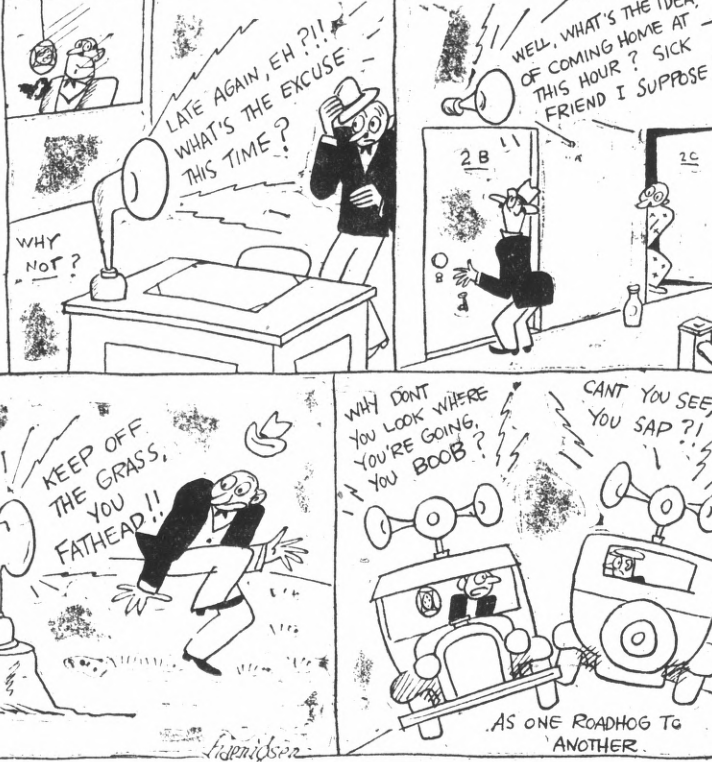

One pound cottage cheese
Two cups milk
One pound ripe tomatoes
Four cups string beans, fresh
One small onion
One small head lettuce
One teaspoon minced onion or chives
One-half cup French dressing

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

HAVE you ever been a target? I mean, have you ever accumulated so much money that other rich men have tried to take it away from you?

If you care to look at it as though I meant, has some one shot at you? That will be all right with me. But what started this thought was a conversation I had the other day with a friend of mine who is one of the big bankers of this country. We used to play marbles together.

This banker explained to me that he never placed himself in a position where he could be made a target. He said:

"It takes about fifteen minutes to find out where a man has his loans and then, if anybody wants to, he can shake the limb and the man he is after will fall off."

He also explained that the faster a man goes up financially, the quicker he falls when he once starts downhill.

I like to think about this target business. Many mothers think their children are targets for their teachers. Business men think they are targets for their competitors, and so it goes.

You can easily keep from being a target by doing nothing unusual and being a "nobody." The man the Wall Street crowd were gunning for recently is known to me as a man, woman and child in this country, while my banker friend is unknown.

You will do me a great favor if you will see how this little tale applies to you. Don't forget that Lincoln was a target during the Civil War.

When It Is a Man's Room

Copyright Press Publishing Company

(New York World) 1929.

IN THIS business of planning schemes to please the personal taste one quickly learns that the man inclines toward much more conservative furnishings than does the average woman. And that is perhaps why the modern trend in decoration adapts itself particularly well to men's rooms.

The big, low and deep-seated modern chairs, plain of line and covered with leather or fabric, express thoroughly the man's idea of beauty and comfort. Here are chairs he can spread out in, with his feet well out in front. Modern sofas, too, are low and deep, with the instant suggestion of rest and relaxation.

And also, in the mode of the moment, we use sparingly these little knickknacks and extra pieces that men deplore about the house. One or two effective pictures, several interesting pieces of bronze, perhaps, a bookshelf and a low cigar table—these are about all the "accessories" he wants—and all happen to be objects that lend themselves well to modern groupings.

In planning the room of the photograph, all these points were carefully observed, and although there was not a strictly modern piece of furniture in the entire collection, the effect was in that direction.

A most interesting subject to deal with was this pent-house apartment with its little balcony overlooking the river. Following the suggestion of the architect, the room was decorated in the living room walls and left them in dead white, introducing color at the baseboards and window frames, where colors from the Jacobean draperies were picked out in several shades.

This fine old linen had a soft, gray-green background and in the center and green in fairly brilliant shades of henna, terra cotta, reds, browns and tans and blue-green. Important in the scheme was the use of the entire color scheme, which included the floor covering in plain blue-green carpet; glass curtains of henna-colored gauze with a fringe of orange and green mixture; a couch cover of serviceable henna rep with velvet cushions of a deeper shade of henna and small pillows of light green piped with orange.

The color of the woodwork was built up from the brownish floor, advancing to all shades of yellow, orange, red and green in a series of stripes, so that the general effect blended in with the color scheme. On one side of the room an old Bavarian chest gaily painted in the colors of the room, and on the other side above the low divan we hung an old Spanish rug, something that was painted in the same colorings, and then about the room were placed quite a number of interesting old pieces of brass and copper filled with brilliant bittersweet and Japanese lanterns.

The gray-green of the curtains was repeated through interesting wall in brass and copper bowls. They are very stunning in a man's room, these decorative objects when they can be shown against the light of a window, or be seen in vista, as the cactus plant on the parapet shows in the picture.

It was necessary to retain several wicker chairs in this room. One big chair with a footstool we painted in light green banded with black and orange, and gave it reversible cushions of an egyptian glazed chintz, green and brown, and on the other side of the room we placed a small table. These were exceedingly practical, as they could be left out on the open balcony without fear of damage by rain. Two other easy chairs were covered with the Jacobean linen. In addition to these pieces there was a desk and also a little black cabinet, such as one might once have described as "for liquer."

Against the soft velvet of the large table stood a big table lamp of white Japanese ware, with a very nice orange parchment shade, and instead of the conventional bridge lamp we chose the unique wall lamp shown in the picture. The wrought iron bracket could be swung in any direction; the shade was of hand-painted silk in the colorings of the room and the lower cone-shaped portion could be removed when direct light was needed. This wrought iron motif was also repeated by iron candle brackets on the wall between the windows. Our only pictures were smart Japanese prints repeating to a certain extent the general colors. Men like to be surrounded by things that pertain to their fads. They are beautifully free from the conventional promptings that bid them to have a certain something for a very certain place. Instead, they see something they want. If it appeals to them they haven't care about whether it fits into the general scheme.

When it comes to objects of interest, I find most men have what may be termed the "collector's sense," rather than the "furnishing sense" possessed by women. Men like to be surrounded by things that pertain to their fads. They are beautifully free from the conventional promptings that bid them to have a certain something for a very certain place. Instead, they see something they want. If it appeals to them they haven't care about whether it fits into the general scheme.

Blue denim overalls, the dressy overalls so modish this year—should be the first things purchased. They will be subjected to rough wear and to daily applications of mud and dust and the unkind intentions of brambles, etc. The sort with a bib is most practical since they protect the front of the shirt. The shirts should be mannish in cut and of solid gray colors. One or two flannel shirts will also be very useful.

Riding habits are necessities—old one or one of khaki for every-day use and a good one for dress-up occasions. If the glare of the sun disturbs you, you may wish to wear one of the wide-brimmed hats, but any felt hat with a brim will do. Berets are good for those who can stand the sun, or the head may be wrapped in a gay bandanna.

Kerchief. And, of course, these gayly colored handkerchiefs are always worn tied about the neck. As most of the ranches are in a high altitude, the weather is decidedly cool and sweaters or those short jacket windbreakers will be worn most of the time. Considerable rain must also be expected, and a slicker is an essential. The best slicker is that called a poncho, which has a divided skirt and is therefore ideal for riding in the rain. A heavy topcoat will be wanted for evenings.

Woolen hose or socks are the best choice. Do not get shoes that are too heavy. You will want one or two pairs of ordinary light weight shoes for even- ing wear and for resting your tender feet. High moccasins or high laced boots are a good choice for activities, and you should include old riding boots if you have them. And, of course, you will want heavy gloves for riding.

For the hours given over to slumber you will want flannel pajamas. A heavy bathrobe and substantial bedroom slippers are very important. Silk underwear is impractical. The woven cotton underwear to be had in most riding habit departments is a good choice.

Hielan' Jock the Piper

JOCK MacLennan, Scotland's most famous master of the pibroch, is dead. All Scotland is in mourning. None could equal him playing the piper. His son played the "Lament of the Chiefs" for him a few minutes before his death, and Jock, seeing death near, asked the boy to blow up the bag for him and hand him the instrument. Once more came the tune, although weakly. "The Standards on the brags o' Mar are up and streaming merrily. And hielan' men frae hill an' glen are coming late and early." Then Jock fell dead. The last hymn he played was the same he piped at St. Julien before Ypres in 1915, when the first gas attack was launched. The French colonials received the first impact, and, horror-stricken, fled. Entire regiments threw down their rifles and raced away from the front. In an hour's time a gap six kilometres wide and twelve deep had formed in the front. Pandemonium and bedlam reigned on all sides. Then suddenly through the smoke and shouting and the fleeing Moroccans stepped the Highlanders of Scotland and Canada. And at their head Jock MacLennan, blowing on the pipes as he never blew before, his tartan swishing and his kilt torn to shreds by the barbed wire. Some say Jock blew so hard that it was due to his formidable breath that the gas clouds veered around and went back whence they had come. Be that as it may, the comic came said: "The Canadians saved the day!" And it mentioned Piper MacLennan and the pibroch that rallied the troops to as savage an attack "a la bayonette" as ever was seen on the Western front.

First Grenadier

The silver casket containing the heart of La Tour d'Auvergne was transferred recently from the Caveau des Gouverneurs in the Church of Saint Louis to the Chapel of Saint

Gregory under the Dome of the Invalides. The casket was carried to its final resting place by officers of the 46th Regiment of the line, in which La Tour d'Auvergne served as "Le premier Grenadier de la République" after his refusal to accept promotion from the rank of Captain. La Tour d'Auvergne, upon whom Napoleon, as First Consul, had conferred the title of Premier Grenadier de la République on Florea 5, Year VIII. (April 5, 1800), in recognition of a long series of feats of arms and acts of personal bravery and self-sacrifice, the most remarkable decoration, was killed at the Battle of Oberhausen in Bavaria, June 27, 1800. A special order was issued to the French Army announcing and deploring his death. To this day his name is always cited in the roll call of the 46th Regiment and is answered by a song officer with the reply: "Mort sur le champ d'honneur!"

Nemi Lake Yields

Four centuries ago an expert examined Lake Nemi and reported to the Pope that it was not worth while "to spend out a sure fortune in order, possibly, to get a chimerical fortune." The expert was right. It has been proved now, as Lake Nemi, pumped dry at enormous expense, has yielded nothing but a couple of mouldering hulls. It is now supposed that Caligula's boats were scuttled deliberately, and that for perfectly plausible reasons. By Caligula's day they were undoubtedly old-fashioned and worn out. He just was tired of them. So, and in this a legend of the countryside concurs, he ordered his officers to strip them of everything of any value and then to sink them. No one need be astonished then that the uncovered boats have yielded no secrets and no treasure. But it is not a good story to give out to the Italian people; it might make them think that even their Government was fallible.

STUDENTS LAUD NEW DE SOTO MACHINES

The sloganized, ram shackle, collegiate automobile with its grotesque mottoes and exhibitions of art on every available inch of space from radiator to gas tank is fast disappearing, according to reports from university campuses and automobile companies the country over. Instead, the spirit of youth in motor car demand is turning to cars embodying characteristics of youthful beauty and performance.

"It is true, students from this vicinity have shown a decided change in attitude toward the automobile they want to drive now compared with a year ago or more," declared Adam Weisgerber, local dealer for the De Soto Six, a car which is proving to be one of the most popular among members of the younger generation.

"Rumor says the same fair coeds who refused to accompany but less students through the streets of college towns also issued an ultimatum against the freak automobile mode of personal transportation which swept the campuses.

"The open type of automobile is in high standing now, according to a national survey made not long ago by a well-known collegiate magazine. Modern youth demands the freedom, the speed, the dash of the open car.

"The first manufacturer to sense this spirit was Walter P. Chrysler. The first car to carry an outstanding appeal to youth and to men of youthful spirit, was a Chrysler-built product. More recently this appeal was carried out to a greater extent in the De Soto Six, latest product of this organization. Immediately sensing its youthful, dashing appearance and alert behavior, young America has bought this car in ever-increasing quantities. His elders, anxious to retain the spirit of happy youth, are fast following suit.

"Of 2588 cars found parked on the campuses of six of the country's leading universities during a single recitation hour recently, the De Soto six was well up with the leaders and numerically far in the lead over models in the low priced field.

"It is this appeal to youth, contained in the long, sweeping, graceful lines and sparkling performance of the De Soto six that has made it so popular with the younger generation and with their elders who enjoy retaining their youthful outlook on life."

RESCUED SEA FLIERS LAND, GREETED

GIBRALTAR, July 2.—Four Spanish air adventurers who were rescued far at sea after their big seaplane had been adrift on the Atlantic ocean for almost a week, were back in the midst of their relatives and friends tonight to receive a welcome which already has surpassed any demonstrations their countrymen have given successful trans-Atlantic fliers.

Sharing the rejoicing and honors of Spain were the officers and men of the British warship H. M. S. Eagle, which rescued the aviators just as hope was dying. It was not until the Eagle steamed into the harbor here this morning to be received by a tumultuous and colorful throng that the complete story of the peril and the rescue of the fliers was revealed.

Commander Ramon Franco, Capt. Ruiz de Aza, Eduardo Galaz and Pedro Madariaga, the four failed in their flight from Alcazarez to New York, were telling their story even before the crowds and officials which swarmed on the Eagle would permit them to land. To their story was added the account of the rescuers.

HORRORS TOLD

Pieced together, it told of their battle to keep the seaplane afloat, their undying confidence that they would be saved, their courage in waiting calmly aboard the seaplane for the rescuers to arrive. Their luck in having plenty of food and water, but their disappointment "when the cigarettes ran out."

Franco told his story readily, praising the crew of the Eagle and the other vessels which aided in the search. He said the seaplane would have remained afloat much longer and their food would have lasted at least another two weeks. They used water—a bit "irony" in taste—from the radiators and they lacked only cigarettes and gasoline.

The joy of all four men was complete this morning when they were folded into the arms of their families and friends who poured out heartfelt thanks to the rescuers. After the ceremonies of landing and the exchange of congratulations and commitments on the part of officials, the fliers were cheered again and again by a dense crowd in the streets of this town.

Greeted By Crowds

Later they went around the bay to Alcazarez—moving at slow speed because of the crowd—and Franco returned late in the day to take the command of the Eagle for an airplane ride. The city of Alcazarez gave a banquet for the fliers—the first Spanish celebration out of many which are awaiting them as they leave Wednesday for Madrid.

The story which Commander Franco told was in keeping with his courage and record as a trans-Atlantic flier. The United Press correspondent asked him to tell of the flight and he replied:

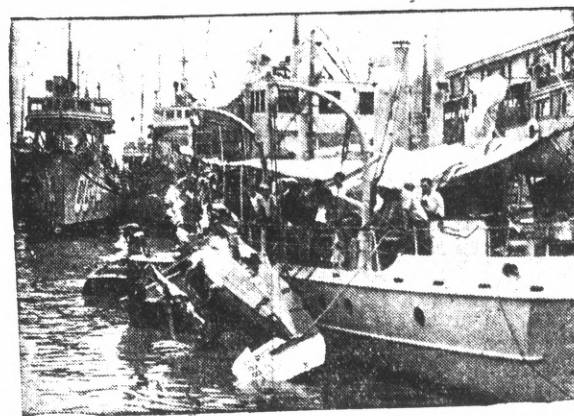

"Of course, there is plenty of time now. Then he related the story of the flight from Alcazarez seaplane base out over Cape San Vicente and on over the Atlantic. Here is the way he told it.

Meet Dense Clouds
"We met dense cloudbanks after striking out over the ocean and tried futilely to get above them. A strong northeast wind was blowing and the clouds were rushing by so that we could not tell what our position was. But we kept on flying until dawn.

"Then Ruiz Aida tried to fix our position by the sun and calculated that we were on the 30th Meridian with the Azores Islands already behind us.

"We agreed to look for a hole in the clouds in order to descend.

RESORT NEAR SANTA CRUZ BURNED

SANTA CRUZ, July 2.—UP.—Fire burning over a radius of 10 miles in the center of the Santa Cruz mountains had destroyed Ford's Rest, including the hotel and many summer homes, tonight.

Three other prominent vacation resorts and 50 or more summer residents were reported in danger.

Motorists were drafted so that 100 men were on the lines at sunset. George Gillette, state forest ranger, sent an emergency call to his headquarters in Sacramento for 100 more men.

Dynamite was being used to check the flames and an airplane from San Jose was dropping bombs to extinguish the blaze.

Details of the fire were brought here by C. F. Meyers of San Francisco, who said hundreds of persons spending their vacation in the endangered region were enroute here as a precaution for safety.

Meyers said Ford's Rest was completely destroyed and the flames were threatening the Ranch resort, Mt. Hermon resort.

do you shout the name of your car or whisper it ?

When you have finished discussing politics and the home team's batting slump and the conversation turns to automobiles, you naturally would rather be an orator than an auditor. And when you are asked the name of your car, you want to shout it, not whisper it.

The driver of a Chrysler-built De Soto Six is proud to talk about his car in any company, for its name is accepted as a badge of real quality. Although De Soto Six sells for as low as $845, the price needs no apology from the owner. He found that he did not have to go higher to purchase complete motoring satisfaction.

Above all else, De Soto gives a real foundation for pride of ownership. This pride must be based on something more than mere transportation, nowadays. It can be inspired only by a car that conforms to every high standard of performance, appearance, comfort and safety.

People take it for granted that an automobile will get you there and back, that it started in life with a presentable coat of paint and that it has its quota of gimcracks and knickknacks. The test of its value is how much it exceeds these minimum requirements. The stricter the test, the more evident is De Soto's all-around superiority.

SPORTS

TRIPLE PLAY FEATURES GAME

A triple play featured the victory of the Insurance Agents over the Lions yesterday afternoon at the First street park. The final score was three to two.

The Lions had their chance to score in the last of the seventh inning.

Metz and Burg each drew a walk and Boehmer got on first when he was hit by a pitched ball.

There was a chance for someone to make a hero of himself when Johnny Miller stepped to the plate. Then it happened.

Miller hit a line drive to Moore who in turn threw to Greathouse who tagged Metz out at third. Greathouse then batted the ball back to Moore who tagged Burg out as he had in the second base.

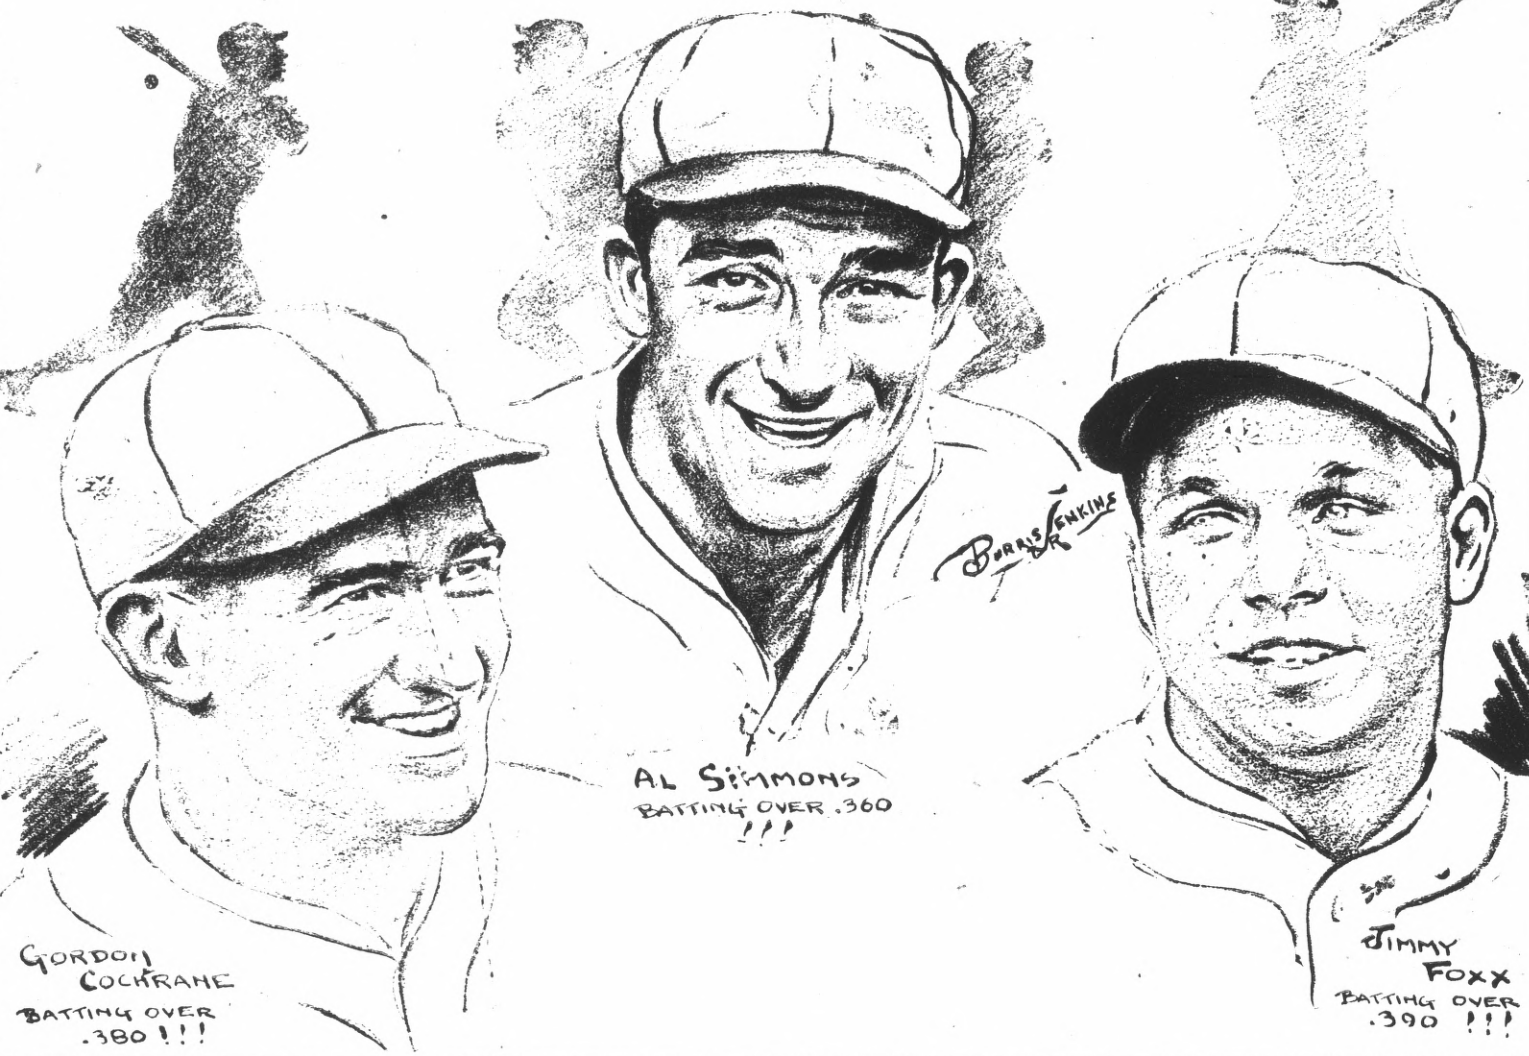

Thus ended the ball game.

NEW CONTEST ON COAST OPENS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—(U.P.)—A new race was started in the Pacific Coast league today with San Francisco's Missions and Seals, Portland and Hollywood in the lead after the first contests of the second half of the split season.

Portland's Beavers gained the tie for first place by beating Los Angeles 7 to 3. They had been in the second division throughout most of the first half but now have a percentage of 1.000 in the standings because they outplayed the Angels from the start.

The Missions, winners of the first half of the season, made five runs in the first three innings and vanquished Oakland, 7 to 3.

Turning every hit into a run, Hollywood trounced Sacramento, 15 to 1. The best inning for the shleeks was the fourth when they made seven runs. Their pitcher, Fullerton, allowed only four hits. In the other game, the Seals, behind shut-out pitching by Walter Mills, defeated Seattle 2 to 0. The Indians made nine hits but could not reach home plate.

Pyle Minus Cash Afoul Of Law In Southern Court

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—(U.P.)—C. C. Pyle, promoter of "bunion" derbies across the continent, had an inning with the labor commission today.

The commission asked Pyle to explain allegations of eight persons, who accompanied the recent New York to Los Angeles jaunt in various capacities, that salaries and expenses were unpaid.

The promoter said he was a member of a corporation and was in no position to answer claims without referring to papers now in New York.

Deputy Commissioner M. E. Richardson said that the investigation of the claims would continue.

Prisoners Paid For Long Term

BANGOR, Me.—(U.P.)—Paul and Fred Lizotte were paid $22 each by Penobscot county for 105 days they spent in jail. They were held as material witnesses in a case in which the defendant eventually was exonerated. Officials decided they should be paid $2 for every day they were kept behind the bars.

This Rowboat Taken For Ride

According to a report made to the Richmond police department yesterday, a rowboat owned by J. P. Smith, 33 Nevada avenue, was stolen two nights ago from its mooring in the inner harbor.

Belief that the boat may have been loaded on a trailer and driven away was expressed when Earl Janke, who lives near the harbor, told police that he heard a machine near the harbor late at night.

What happened to those lovely false curls so popular in the nineties?

U.S. DAVIS CUP TEAM BEATS FRANCE

WIMBLEDON July 2.—(U.P.)—Climaxing a day of brilliant triumphs for the United States and of disastrous defeats for France, the young American Davis cup players, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn eliminated Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon of France, defending champions, from the men's doubles in the Wimbledon tennis championships today. The scores were 7-5, 8-6, 3-6, 8-6.

The United States won five important doubles matches in the men's and mixed divisions, losing only one engagement when Helen Wills and Edith Cross of California were put out of the women's doubles.

French Teams Lose
Three strong French doubles teams went down to defeat, leaving France without a representative in the men's and women's doubles and women's singles.

The United States placed two of the three teams in the men's doubles semi-finals today, and another in the quarter finals. William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter beat H. Kleinenschroth of Germany and Baron Bela von Kehrling of Hungary, 6-4, 8-6, 6-1, and will meet Allison and Van Ryn in the semi final round.

George Lott and John Hennessey, United States men's doubles champions, gained the quarter final round by defeating the English pair, R. Lycett and J. D. P. Wheatley, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 and will meet another English combination, C. H. Kingston and J. S. Olliff, for the right to play Dr. J. C. Gregory and I. G. Collins of England in the semi-finals.

Three U. S. Teams
Thus three of the five teams in the men's doubles are from the United States and an all American final in the men's doubles was discussed as a possibility in many quarters tonight.

Allison and Van Ryn stole the thunder of the French players today and beat them at their own game—flashy net work and brilliant overhead play. Long famous for their great volleying, Cochet and Brugnon were no match for the American youths today. The Americans invariably excelled in the many electrical overhead duels which took place with only a couple of yards separating the rival pairs at the net.

Next, no doubt, will be the marriage contest.

Reindeer Calf Born On Ranch

EVERLY, Mass.—What is believed to be the first reindeer calf ever born in the United States is doing nicely at Lodgepole ranch, Otis Emerson Dunham's North Beverly estate. The young reindeer is jet black and quite long-legged.

New Jail Escape Method revealed

MILWAUKEE—One way to get out of jail is to fall out of the jail bed and get hurt. Two Milwaukee prisoners "got away with it" recently when they rolled out of the beds at local police stations. One suffered concussion of the brain, and the other received a gash on the head. They were both treated at a local hospital.

Marine Nine Seeks Return Contest Here

The Marine corps baseball nine, stationed at Mare Island is angling for a return games with the Richmond Elks ball club here. Last Sunday the Leathernecks nosed out the local team in a hard fought contest.

The game will probably be played at the First street diamond here.

Dairen, Tokyo To Have Air Service

HARBIN, Manchuria.—Air service to be inaugurated shortly between Dairen and Tokyo, may be co-ordinated with the arrival and departure of the Trans-Siberian expresses, thus affording through passengers the facility of air travel to and from Japan, in preference to the longer rail journey over Chosen.

Dead Man Sought On City Complaint

MANILA.—Police received information that one Pedro Tenorio had violated a city ordinance by throwing waste water into a canal. So a delegation sallied forth to the Tenorio home to make an arrest. There they learned, and subsequently confirmed by health service records, that the accused died on March 7, 1920.

Faces Of Statesmen Which Will Appear on New Currency To Be Issued July 10

GEORGE WASHINGTON
The first President is still the greatest and most popular historical figure, so, very properly, the portrait of George Washington adorns the most popular of the paper money denominations, the $1 bill. A figure "1" is on the reverse of the bill.

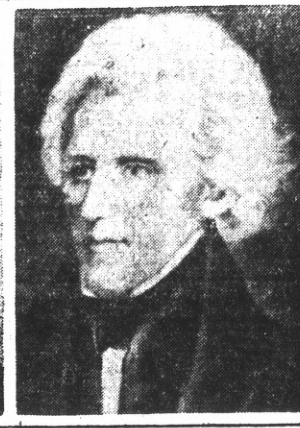

THOMAS JEFFERSON
Most folk will see quite a bit of the portrait of Thomas Jefferson and his ancestral mansion "Monticello." Gamblers and suspicious folk, however, will put a taboo on his picture. It adorns the new $2 bill, and "Monticello" appears on the reverse.

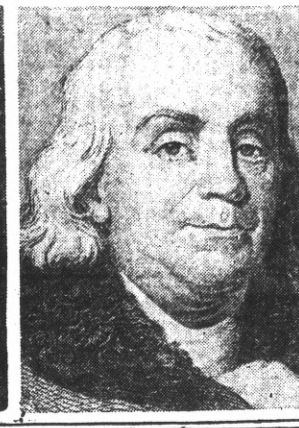

ABRAHAM LINCOLN
The portrait of the Great Emancipator will be one of the more popular likenesses. It will appear on the $5 bill and a view of the Lincoln Memorial in Arlington is to adorn the reverse of the bill.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON
Photo shows Alexander Hamilton, our first financial wizard, and an early aristocrat, is in the nominally aristocratic group, with his likeness on the new $10 bill. The Treasury itself adorns the reverse of that bill.

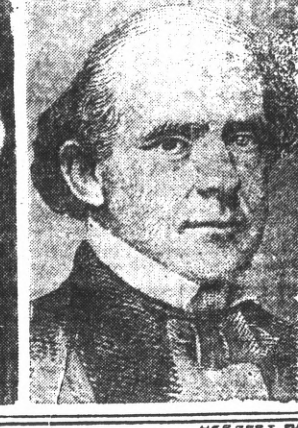

ANDREW JACKSON
Photo shows Andrew Jackson was a true Democrat and not at all "uppish." Yet common folk will not have much to do with his portrait. It appears on the $20 bill. The White House, one of the achievements of his administration, trims the reverse.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN
Benjamin Franklin and Independence Hall are the decorations of the new $100 bill. Mr. Franklin was a true Democrat himself, but his features will trim very few purses of the "common people."

JAMES MADISON
The first real aristocratic President and first occupant of the White House will not be in the collections of most ordinary folk. His likeness adorns the new $5000 bill, and the figure itself adorns the reverse.

SALMON P. CHASE
A hobby worth while will be collecting the portraits of Salmon P. Chase, Lincoln's Secretary of Treasury. You'll find it on the face of the new $10,000 bill. The $10,000 figure is enough for the back of the bill.

POWER RATES OF VALLEJO PROBED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—(U.P.)—Investigation of rates charged by the Vallejo Electric Light and Power company by Railroad Commission William J. Carr at a rehearing was completed here today.

No definite date was set for the Commission's decision, but it was believed it would not be longer than two weeks.

Most sensational in the day's testimony was the declaration by a representative of the company that if excessive rates were charged it was not the fault of the company.

F. Emerson Hoar, consulting engineer employed by the company, was the principal witness for the defense. In his testimony he asked that the commission take into consideration rates charged by the Pacific Gas and Electric company, a firm which supplies the Vallejo concern with power. Fluctuating revenues, due to the amount of work done at Mare Island, was another point mentioned.

Driver To Face El Cerrito Court

Charged with reckless driving, Hal Harcourt, 425 Fifth street, Richmond, will appear before Police Judge J. F. Plank of El Cerrito tonight. Harcourt was arrested by Traffic Officer Arthur Peralta. He is free on his own recognizance.

CINCINNATI, Ind.—The local post of the American Legion, celebrated the ninetieth birthday of Uncle Joseph Roseman, a musician who fought in several of the big battles of the Civil War.

Dr. Hinkley Installed As Lion Leader

Dr. A. B. Hinkley was installed as president of the Richmond Lions club yesterday afternoon at a session in the Hotel Carquinez. Other newly elected officers of the club assumed their duties at that time.

Miss Mary Gardner, who has been elected queen of the Concord Fourth of July celebration, was introduced to the club by John A. Miller. Louis Sirard, retiring president and A. H. MacKinnon, president of the El Cerrito Den were introduced.

A. C. Paris, secretary of the club reported that the club has 57 members and all finances are on a sound basis.

John Miller will be chairman of the day next Tuesday. Edgar C. Levey, speaker of the state assembly will be the speaker of the day.

French To Withdraw From Rhine Zones

COLOGNE July 2.—(U.P.)—Indications of an early evacuation of the second occupied zone in the Rhine valley were reported today, raising the assumption that the French are preparing to withdraw their troops before cold weather begins. According to the treaty, French soldiers must leave the second zone before Jan. 10, 1930.

M. DIMICK ILL
Milton Dimock, son of Mrs. W. Dimock, 584 Eighth street, is in the Cottage hospital recovering from an operation performed last Friday. He is an employee of the Certain-teed Products company.

MYERS IN NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. A. Clay Myers are making a tour of Canada and points of the Pacific northwest. They will not return until mid-July. Mrs. Myers is worthy matron of the Miramar chapter.

ALAMEDA WILL GET ARMY AIR BASE

tion and under option to the Marin county board of supervisors who will purchase the site and will donate it to the government. Four squadrons of bombers will be stationed at the Marin county field. The entire force will comprise 110 officers and 1250 enlisted men.

The army plans call for the expenditure of $6,000,000 on the bombing base to complete the first units. Later additions to the site will be made, a total of 2500 acres being the eventual development, according to army officials, and the total expenditures will amount to more than $10,000,000.

Considered Ideal

According to Col. G. D. Brant, chief of the air forces in San Francisco, the site is considered ideal. It is hard, dry ground, well drained and with sufficient water frontage to handle supplies for seaplanes. The Marin water district plans to lay water mains costing $75,000 to the base and the Northwestern Pacific will construct a spur track.

The Pacific Coast army air base and depot in Alameda is located on the south side of the estuary near the Alameda airport. It comprises 311 acres of filled ground.

Center of Area

It will be the depot for the air forces not only in this region but for the Hawaiian and Philippine islands and Alaska. About 200 men, civilians and mechanics, will be employed.

RENO, Nev., July 2.—UP—Eugene O'Neill, noted New York playwright, and his wife were divorced here today, the decree being granted to Agnes O'Neill after a trial behind locked doors that lasted 15 minutes.

Journalists and the public were barred from the court room while Mrs. O'Neill gave brief testimony to uphold her charges of desertion, regarded as technical charge since an agreement on the divorce was apparently reached by the couple.

A cowpuncher and his wife who run the "Dude" ranch where Mrs. O'Neill has been living for three months were the only other witnesses, being called only to affirm that legal residence requirements had been fulfilled by the wife.

Before they were married in Massachusetts in 1918, the author of "Strange Interlude" and many other dramatic successes, and his wife agreed that a divorce could be obtained whenever either one fell in love with some one else, whether this was the cause for the action could not be ascertained.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless. It works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.
